

Alumni Fashion Project

Alumna and actress Jenna Elfman, Class of 1985, joined forces with Fashion Project (www.fashionproject.com) and their VP of Digital Marketing and Engagement, Nicole Barefoot, class of 2002, to support the cause she's most passionate about, Youth for Human Rights. Elfman opened her closet with red carpet looks from Fendi to Gucci to support their mission to inspire youth to become advocates for tolerance and peace.

Fashion Project lets you donate designer clothing, shoes and handbags, and sell them on their online boutique. You decide where to donate the majority of the proceeds with 100 times the financial impact of a standard thrift store.

It's wonderful to not only hear about the successes of past students but to see how they network and support one another in their life's passions. Nicole says if you wish to give back in some way, visit www.fashionproject.com/donate. They take care of all the shipping details. You decide which charity to donate the majority of the proceeds and they'll send you a tax receipt. Doing good has never looked better!

Mother/Daughter Fashion Show & Tea

For the mothers and daughters, Committees are being formed now to put on a fabulous fashion show and tea which is coming Saturday, March 8, 2014. Want to help? Contact Ms. Jane Daily or Mrs. Dana Palmer: jane@janedaily.com & palmer2020@msn.com. We are very excited!! Please join in on the fun!

